ROTC Announces Candidates

Five more coeds were nominated this week for the ROTC "Sweetheart of the Corps" contest to be held April 5. Patrick Heaslip and Tom Fiege are co-chairman of the contest.

Additional candidates and

Students Attend Ed Conference

Ten UMD education students, accompanied by Leonard B. Wheat, assistant professor of education, head of secondary education, and Dorothy D. Smith, assistant professor of education, attended an Education conference at the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Feb. 24 and 25.

Eva Mae Bloomgren was a member of the panel, "Should sex and family relations courses be included in the public schools and what should be the responsibilities of the teacher?"

Students representing UMD were Doris Lakso, Dolores Lakso, Eva Mae Bloomgren, David Kreager, Pat Giliuson, Paul Magney, Virginia Hayes, Daniel Zigich, Irene Reid and John Boice.

Lakeside To Show Opera 'Rigoletto'

Music will take over in the field of motion pictures when the opera "Rigoletto" comes to the Lakeside Art theatre March 10 through March 16.

Instead of a movie version of this famous opera the motion pictures have filmed "Rigoletto" directly from the stage of the Rome Opera house with the Rome Opera orchestra, under the direction of Tullio Serafin.

Red Cross Drive In Progress For Faculty and Employees

Red Cross membership campaign at UMD begins this week among faculty and civil service employees, while the student fund-raising campaign will take place early spring quarter.

Student campaign plans were laid at Tuesday's meeting of the Student council. The Red Cross drive is to be included in an over-all campaign to raise

Musicians Play Chamber Music

The UMD music department presented a concert of chamber music Tuesday evening in Tweed. Five ensembles under the direction of James E. Smith and Robert E. Beverly performed.

The program included "Cosmography for Four Clarinets", a composition written by Rolv Yttrehus, UMD student, "Divertimento No. 3" Mozart and "Suite for B-flat Clarinet" by Pisk.

Members of the student ensembles were Paul Magney, Florence Kochevar, Thomas Jacobson, William Diedrich, Alfred Dillan, Jr., Kathryn Reid and William Moody.

the organizations nominating them are Jeanie Beaudette, Gamma Theta Upsilon; Mary Mc Dougall, Orchesis and Gamma Theta Phi; Mary Lee Huseby, "M" club; Dagmar Johnson, Sigma Phi Kappa, Iris Peterson, Business club; Laverne Stone, Young Republican club and Peggy Hella, Pi Delta Epsilon.

Heaslip

Janet Dow, previously nominated by the Rangers club, has also been chosen by the Young DFL. Other candidates are: Darlene Melling, Katherine McDonnell and Winifred Welch.

Fiege

From these candidates and any others nominated before March 10 deadline a "Sweetheart of the Corps" will be selected.

Democracy Must Survive In America, Says Pieper

"Democracy is the basis on which our government was founded and on which it must survive," stated Dr. Ezra Pieper in his speech, "America's Role in World Affairs" at last Tuesday's convocation.

Decoration Committee Needs Prom Workers

Any juniors interested in working on the decorations committee for the prom are urged to contact Sally Loucks, PO 1502 or Roger Lillehei, PO 1839. Spring quarter class schedules should be included when contacting them.

ected to reign over the Cadet ball April 15.

Billy Bishop's 12-piece orchestra will play for the all-school event. Except for an engagement last year the Club Carnival in Minneapolis, Bishop's band is new to this area. See ROTC, page 3

Council To Investigate Fees For Non-Lab Courses

An investigation of laboratory charges for courses without laboratories, such as journalism and speech, was ordered by the Student council Tuesday. The financial committee will conduct the investigation.

Bryan To Speak

The speaker for the first convocation of spring quarter will be Julian Bryan, who will appear Tuesday, March 28 at 11 a. m. Mr. Bryan will show recent motion pictures on Poland, Czechoslovakia. Movies of displaced persons in Austria and Germany will also be included.

Hollywood Star, Announcer To Come To 'Fools Festival'

Hollywood guest stars, Rick Terry, announcer, and June Pressier, actress, will be present at the April "Fools Festival" sponsored by Mu Delta Pi, the pre-med, pre-dent fraternity.

"Fools Festival" will consist of an area-wide square dance at the Armory Saturday evening. Invitations have been extended to Chambers of Commerce and square dance clubs in the Range cities, Cloquet, Duluth and other communities in the surrounding area.

Chuck Wagner's Monarch Valley Hoedowners will play.

Instructions will be afforded to beginning squares and prizes will be awarded to the best squares.

The admission price is 60 cents.

Frances Mages to Present Artists Series Concert Here

Frances Mages, violinist, will appear in a concert Tuesday, March 14 in the University auditorium. This concert is sponsored by the Concert and Lecture service of the University of Minnesota.

The program for the evening will include, "Suite in A Major" by Vivaldi, Mozart's "Sonata in C Major", "Suite Italienne" by Stravinsky and Ravel's "Tzigane".

Miss Mages

Miss Mages was recently singled out by Newsweek as one of the six outstanding artists of the 1948-49 season. She has appeared in several concerts in Carnegie Hall.

At the age of fourteen, she made her first orchestral appearance with the Cleveland Symphony, as guest soloist. Since then she has performed with numerous symphonies throughout the country including a tour with the Adolph Busch symphony.

Dr. Ige to Address DFL On 'Hawaiian Politics'

Dr. Thomas H. Ige, assistant professor of business administration, will speak on "Politics in the Hawaiian Islands" and will discuss the possibilities of statehood for Alaska and Hawaii at the Young Democratic Farmer-Labor club meeting March 29, 7:30 p. m. in Washburn.

Dr. Ige is adviser of the DFL club.

Just In Time

A student counselor from the main campus offers some suggestions on how to take an examination. They are: prepare a master outline of notes and condense it to about 10 pages, look over charts and diagrams in books, understand the material before trying to memorize it, get plenty of sleep the night before exam and inquire from the instructor if the exam will be objective or subjective.

It's all yours.

Men's Glee Club Presents Concert

The Men's Glee club, under the baton of Jackson K. Ehlert, presented two concerts of secular and sacred music last Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

A program based on the four passage from the writings of Thomas Jefferson, "The Testament of Freedom", was presented. The program also included "Ave Maria", "Beautiful Savior" and "Were You There".

Soloists with the group were Betty Flockhart, Edgar Eklof, George Conant and Galen Engin.

Students Acclaim Dr. Odlaug As Outstanding Instructor

By Toni Romano

Occasionally, one hears an instructor lamenting the denseness of the students that plague his class. As a matter of fact, no one knows better than the student how difficult the task is of pounding knowledge into his head.

Students quickly come to know those instructors who can present their material in a lucid and interesting manner. Dr. Theron O. Odlaug, associate professor of zoology, is probably most often considered as having this singular and blessed ability.

When asked what he considered to be the instructor's greatest asset for presenting his material, he replied: "I think that if lecturing is to be of any benefit to the student, the instructor must have a real and vital interest in his subject."

Dr. Odlaug earned his B. A. at Luther college, Iowa, and continued his work by attending New York university, where he was awarded his M. S. C. and Ph. D.

While writing his thesis for his Ph. D., Dr. Odlaug made a distinct contribution to Parazitology. He discovered a four-host parasite, called alaria intermedia. This parasite was the second four-host Trematode to be found in the entire field of zoology.

Trematoda is a division of flatworms commonly called flukes. The four stage cycle of the fluke starts from a racoon, whose pollution carries the worm to the water where it burrows into a snail. The snail is eaten by a frog, thereby infecting it. In turn, the frog is devoured by a field mouse, who is captured by the racoon, ending the cycle.

Requests for Dr. Odlaug's research have come from as far as England and Wales.

"WEE LITTLE BEASTIES" are sought by Dr. Theron O. Odlaug, UMD parasitologist, who is shown peering through his research microscope.

Act I—Scene I

(Son enters, speaks to audience:

My name is Tom Wingflap. I work in a warehouse, but I'm a poet at heart. I am the sole support of senile mother and my hydrocephalic sister, who has never had a date. I think the rest of the play will explain itself.

Scene II

(The son is seated at table right, writing. The hydrocephalic daughter is downstage playing with a bunch of celluloid animals. The senile mother speaks):

Mother: Sonny dear, what are you writing?

Son: (Throwing typewriter at mother.) Don't interrupt me! I'm writing a play called "Hamlet". It's about a Danish prince whose uncle murdered his father and married his mother.

Mother: (picking up teeth) That's fine, son. I'm sure it will succeed. (She sits on floor, center. Son is using the only chair.) I wish we could find a man for daughter. (Son throws inkwell at her. Daughter sobs and begins to gnaw on a celluloid platypus. The doorbell rings.) Mother: It's a man!! It's a gentleman caller for daughter. (She somersaults senilely to the door and opens it.)

The Traveling Salesman: How do you do? I'm—

Mother: Come right in! Daughter's been expecting you. (She drags him downstage left and throws him in daughter's lap.)

Daughter: Hello. I'm the hydrocephalic daughter.

The Salesman: Don't feel bad about it. It's just a slight defect. (He takes off his hat. He is a microcephalic. He opens his sample case.) Could I interest you in some patented, guaranteed celluloid lacquer?

Daughter: Oh yes! You see I live in a dream world and my escape mechanism is collecting celluloid animals. Look at this platypus. I've only gnawed it a little bit and its getting all scratched. I'll take a gross of half-pint bottles.

The Salesman: (kissing her furiously about the head and sobbing insanely) I've been trying to sell that lacquer for 13 years! You've made me the happiest man in the world! (He begins to gnaw on a celluloid gila monster. In a cold blue pool of light upstage center, the son is seen strangling the mother.)

Civil Rights Passage Would Impair Freedom

A "glittering generality" has been defined as an expression which sounds dynamic but in reality its meaning is very vague. Some examples are: "rights of others", "individual liberties", "employment discrimination".

One of the biggest "glitters" of them all is President Truman's "Civil Rights" program. This program embraces "equal opportunities for all", "non-discrimination", "equality of man" and the like.

There probably isn't a person alive who doesn't believe in these "certain inalienable rights". Both major political parties, in an effort to enlist public support, favor them.

Why then all the rub about passing legislation on Truman's Civil Rights program?

President Truman's plan calls for enactment of a bill which will give the federal government additional powers on the pretext of administering Civil Rights. Among other things, this bill would:

1) Prohibit an employer or labor union from discriminating because of "race, religion, color, national origin, or ancestry",

2) Prohibit such employers or unions from firing or otherwise discriminating against any person by reason of charges

NOT RUSSIAN, BUT RED...

Members of the Wrenshall high school basketball team who played in the district tournament this week didn't need uniforms to distinguish them as members of the same team. They all had red hair. The tinting job was done in honor of their coach, Jack Boyer, who is well-known for both his coaching ability and his red hair.

Boyer, who graduated from UMD with a phy ed major last year, surprised many fans with the excellent team he produced in his first year of coaching.

BASKETBALL...

Members of the UMD band who were anxious to gain admission to the district B-B tournament this week tooted their way into the armory with the members of the Wrenshall band. They had a standing invitation from the Wrenshall band director to augment his newly-formed group when Wrenshall played Cloquet last Tuesday.

AND THE DONKEY KIND...

Basketball for Duluthians will not be over merely because the regular college and high school teams have ended. If the "M" club has its way, it will schedule another donkey basketball game similar to the one sponsored last year.

DON'T FORGET...

Next week is exam week, but another important date, March 15, also falls during exam period. Wednesday, March 15 is the last day for filing income tax reports.

Dear Editor:

It is apparent to everyone that more room is needed in Washburn. We suggest that the following improvements to enlarge Washburn be made by those who are in the position to do so.

1. Move coffee bar to the kitchen, thus adding to student area.

2. Cut an opening, eight feet wide and three feet high, connecting the north wall of the Bohannon room with the new coffee bar. Through this opening students could be served coffee and other refreshments with less congestion than is now present.

3. Enclose the north porch of Washburn, so that it may be used as a reception office for the health center. The old reception office would then provide more room for Washburn activities.

UMD Students Are Eligible For ROC Summer Training

UMD freshman and sophomore students are eligible for the six-weeks summer training period leading to commissioned ranks under the Reserve Officers Candidate program.

Students of medicine, dentistry and theology are ineligible.

Eligibility may be acquired by becoming a member of the Naval Reserve and submitting an application before April 1, 1950.

The program is slated to begin July 10 at San Diego, California, and Newport, Rhode Island, for male candidates and at Great Lakes for women.

ROC candidates are paid at the same rate as a navy seaman during the basic period of training.

Youngdahl Stopped By Bad Weather

Governor Luther Youngdahl was scheduled to discuss Minnesota's Youth Conservation Guidance program Wednesday, March 8. The governor was unable to attend because of inclement weather.

Film Council Sets Festivals

The Duluth Film council is sponsoring a series of three film festivals to be held March 15, April 12 and May 18 in the UMD auditorium. The documentary and feature films will be combined into a performance of about two hours length for each of the festivals.

The program is as follows: March 15: "The Great North" and five early comedies of Charlie Chaplin.

April 12: "American Folk Music" with Burl Ives, Josh White and Peter Seeger and "The Lady Vanishes", directed by Alfred Hitchcock.

May 18: "Your Children and You", "Baby Sitter" and "Adventures of Chico".

Admission to all three showings is $1.20. Tickets are available in room 111, Main.

Duluth Merchant To Address Group

Mr. George Stephenson, manager of the Piggly-Wiggly stores, will speak on Retail Grocery Management at a Placement Guidance meeting, on a date early in the spring quarter.

This meeting, the first of a series of Placement Guidance meetings, was arranged by the UMD Placement service.

Mr. Stephenson emphasized he is not only interested in speaking to Business and Economic majors, but to all persons who are interested in learning more about this type of work.

Meetings on social work, credit, insurance and personnel work have been scheduled tentatively for the spring quarter.

Gerlach, Wells Pick All-IM Team

By Ken Olson

Meet the UMD 1950 All-Intramural team: This week IM directors Joseph Gerlach and Ward Wells selected from the ranks of this year's squads these cagers meriting special laurels for their outstanding caliber of play.

Two squads are well-represented on the team. The Rangers, victims of an upset in tournament play, placed Harland Johnson and Scott Erickson, forward and center, respectively. Guard John Downs and center Howard Tucker, both of the Wolves, filled two of the nine positions. The roster of forwards was completed with the addition of the Trixter's Sherman Durell and the Weasel's Jim Keranen.

Gerlach and Wells also picked the Angels' Dale Peterson and the Streaks' Norman Schroeder for guard spots. Nomination of Don Kjellman, Proctor center, finished the selection of an all-star squad.

The winner of last night's final game between the Weasels and Proctor will represent UMD at the MIAC extramural tourney to be held at St. Thomas on March 25.

Yellowjackets Even Trans-City Series

The Superior State Yellowjackets evened their season's record against UMD by edging the Bulldogs, 65-63, at the Superior gym.

Dom Moselle and Pug Norlander led their teams in scoring with 15 points each. Rudy Monson, up from a sick bed for the game, and Milt Krznarich added 14 counters apiece.

Moselle and Krznarich appeared in Yellowjacket uniforms for the last time in this contest, and both turned in fitting curtain performances.

Sextet Ties Macalester In Final Hockey Contest

The UMD sextet closed its season against Macalester with a 1-1 tie. The game was played in the spacious new Williams' area at the main campus.

Both teams started out cautiously as they familiarized themselves with the huge sheet of ice. In the second canto, Bob Boyat scored on a double pass from Jim Krysiak and George Sachen.

At the outset of the third period, Bill Swanson dented the net while the Bulldogs had a man in the cooler.

UMD Skiers Win; Remain Undefeated

The consistent UMD ski team finished an undefeated season Friday by taking first place in three events of their annual invitational meet at Mont du Lac and Chester bowl.

Competition was in downhill, slalom, jumping and cross-country, with Mark Magney, Ivan Iverson and Joe Nowak of UMD and Charles Banks of Stout Institute, respectively, winning first place medals in those events.

UMD totaled an amazingly low 40 points, while second place Stout had 109 and Carleton, 112.

Bulldogs Finish Cage Season With Close Loss to Hamline

It was just too much Hal Haskins at the Hamline field house Monday night as the UMD Bulldogs came close to upsetting the great Hamline Pipers. The final score gave the Hutton-men a five point victory at 70-65.

"Prince Hal" was after a scoring record in this game. He needed 35 points to reach the 2,000 mark for his college career. And 35 points is exactly what he collected.

The Bulldogs started great, getting a four-point lead in the Norlander early stages, a lead which dwindled to a 16-14 advantage at the first quarter mark. In the second quarter Haskins garnered 16 points as the home-townners took command to lead 37-22 at the intermission.

In the second half, the Bulldogs began hitting from all angles and narrowed the lead to three points early in the fourth quarter.

Pug Norlander hit for six field goals in the second half to wind up as the high scoring Bulldog with 22 counters. Rudy Monson added 20 points to garner the runner-up spot.

Paul Nace pushed in ten markers and Dick Lundquist bowed out of college competition as he dented the meshes for seven points.

LOCKER-ROOM CHATTER

by DAVE DYE

Monday of this week saw the windup of two intercollegiate sports at UMD for another year. Hockey bowed out in the afternoon as the Bulldogs battled the strong Macalester sextet to a one-all tie.

Basketball made its exit in a near-glorious finis, as Coach Ray Isenbarger's charges nearly upset the Hamline applecart.

But for a sensational performance by a truly great cager, Hal Haskins, the Bulldogs might have emerged victorious.

Bulldogs Surprise Spectators

The victory was the closest on the Piper home floor this season and possibly for a couple years back. Except for a disastrous second quarter, the Bulldogs outscored the Red and White by 12 points.

Haskins

Ken Murphy stated in the St. Paul Pioneer Press the next morning, "All but lost in the enthusiasm for Haskins—was the almost unbelievable performance of a UMD team which has come a long way during its first season in the MIAC."

The Bulldog quintet has selected an all-opposition team for this season. Almost all the selections were unanimous. The squad picked is:

F—Hal Haskins	Hamline
F—Paul Saufl	St. Mary's
C—Ed Katsimpalis	Eastern Illinois
G—Joe Hutton, Jr.	Hamline
G—Lloyd Sandstrom	St. Thomas

Three men on the Bulldog cage squad saw their last collegiate action Monday. Dick Lundquist, regular guard, and Rudy Brandstrom and Lane Soderquist, forwards, hung up the togs for the last time. They will be missed by the staff next year, and deserve a "well done" by the student body of UMD.
